This scarf was designed to be donated to Super Bowl XLVI to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana in 2012. Scarves are being collected to give to the 8000 volunteers needed to help host the event. There were specific color and design restrictions per the NFL, so I chose one of the approved yarns and followed the guidelines for designs. No logos showing support for any specific team were allowed.

This scarf is done in the Illusion/Shadow style of knitting. Since Illusion designs are made from alternating colors of horizontal stripes when viewed at from a ninety-degree angle, I wanted to play with stripes. I knit the scarf with vertical stripes that are visible from an obtuse viewing angle with side borders of short horizontal stripes running the length of the scarf.

Fringe
Cut 16” lengths of Color A for fringe. For the scarf produced by this pattern, ninety-six lengths were required – three lengths used per hole made by yarnovers at each end of the scarf.

With the right side of scarf facing upward, slip the crochet hook through the YO holes from underneath. (See photo A below.) Fold three lengths of fringe in half and catch the closed end with the crochet hook. Pull the fringe loop through from top to bottom, (See photo B below) and then insert the open ends of the fringe through the loop and pull. (See photo C below.)
